Networking to learn series III: Practical Solutions

Brief Description of the Event

The objective of these series of meeting is to provide a platform to ACCE members and guests to network and learn from each other and the past Award winners.

RRSP contribution season is just around the corner. It is always a dilemma to decide whether to contribute to RRSP for tax refund or to pay down mortgage for interest reduction. If you want to make a wise decision, you should not miss the networking to learn event for this month. The association has invited a representative from IMBA CAPITAL (Independent Brokers Association) and another from Mutual Fund Investment firm to express their opinion on the topic. You should be able to find your solution from their conversation.
