Alvin Kersting

Alvin Kersting is an accomplished business leader orchestrating eight successful P&L turnarounds, driving growth, spearheading M&A, and securing capital for a diverse portfolio of private equity and publicly traded companies. With a dynamic career spanning over 25 years, Alvin has seamlessly navigated from hands-on plant floor execution to strategic execution for multi-site & internationally operating companies in industries that include aerospace, oil & gas, power generation, nuclear, mining, renewable energy, SaaS, IoT and cloud technology. In addition to his executive roles, Alvin has actively contributed to industry associations, serving as a Board of Director for the American Chamber of Commerce in Canada (AMCHAM) and the Ontario Aerospace Council (OAC). At the heart of Alvin's approach is a belief that the purpose of conversation is to make progress, emphasizing the importance of forward momentum over being right or wrong.
