

Raji Kalra – CEO, Voice Model

Raji Kalra is a seasoned technology leader with nearly twenty years of experience helping brands, retailers, and individuals succeed in a rapidly evolving digital world. As CEO of Voice Model, Raji is leading the charge in redefining how businesses and influencers connect with their audiences. Voice Model delivers AI-powered voice solutions that transform customer engagement into interactive question-and-answer experiences. By equipping brands, retailers, and influencers with conversational AI, Raji and his team make it easier for consumers to discover, learn about, and build trust in the products they choose. Raji's vision is centered on humanizing technology, bridging innovation with authentic connection so that businesses can engage their customers more meaningfully in the age of voice.

